Fernando Achucarro

fachucarro@gmail.com | 816-377-3134

Born in Asuncion Paraguay, Fernando Achucarro knew since childhood that it was his destiny to make art. Though his start in life was humble, this self-taught artist has had his work shown in galleries throughout Paraguay, Argentina, and Spain. After moving to the US, Achucarro has had the privilege of not only being featured in respected galleries on both coasts but has also been honored to serve as a guest speaker at the Kansas City Art Institute. Whether he's expressing himself through paint, pastel, graphite or charcoal, Achucarro's creations evince his keen understanding of the nebulous spaces that exist between shadow, light, vulnerability, and strength.

The creation process is enlivening for me; watching movement unfold as I work a piece of metal brings continual amazement at the magical effects of light and shadow upon textured steel and copper – the same as when I am out studying Nature herself. Marti

Acrylic & Watercolor

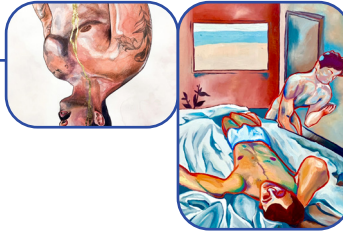

Each piece you see is directly created & inspired by the souls of people I know. By highlighting aspects of people's spirit & deeper truths through symbolism, I believe it helps the individual connect with their power & sets them free in a sense. I've witnessed so much fear in myself & others when it comes to being authentic & expressing truthfully. And when we suppress ourselves & conform just to be "accepted" by people who cannot truly see our light, our spirits get buried. It is my hope that my artwork can invite our spirits to resurface, give permission to just be, & connect to our authenticity, magic, & soul gifts.

twitter: @chico_sierra | fb: www.facebook.com/zapatec
Originally from El Paso Texas, visual artist Chico Sierra now resides in the midwest. Having relocated from his familial homeland, Chico attempts to connect the dots of his cultural history and create new stories based around humanism, class structures and social justice.

Influenced by his interests in varying social sciences and spiritual iconography he is attempting to create new narratives using symbolism that has been previously clouded by colonialism and more recently appropriated by euro-centric new age spiritualism.

Sponsored by Northeast Arts KC:

Our mission is to provide, enhance, fund, market and support cultural events which bring the visual and the performance arts to the public in the Historic Northeast community, without regard to race, religion or ethnic group.

We create programs that beautify and increase the viability of the Historic Northeast. We inspire neighbors to infuse art into practical work and everyday living. We nurture appreciation of the arts within our own community.
